Newsletter February 2022

Dear colleagues,

We are proud to invite you again in 2022 to an exciting congress with presentations, abstract and poster sessions and our pre-conference Educational Day "Nursing roles in pediatric and adult congenital cardiology" on Wednesday May 25th, 2022.

We give you an overview in our nursing and joint sessions from Thursday, 26th to Saturday, 28th, 2022.

- Pregnancy counselling in patients with CHD
- Nursing care for young and older patients with CHD during COVID-19
- Optimizing the journey towards surgery in CHD patients
- Long-term perspectives after transplantation in CHD
- Methods corner: Novel interventional studies assessing outcome in patients with CHD

We know you are as excited as we are to finally meet in person again!

At the moment they continue to plan the AEPC 2022 Annual Meeting as a fully in-person meeting and registration is opened for the 55th Annual Meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

You can benefit of both reduced early registration rates until 14 February 2022 and as a nurse or allied Professional you will profit from a free access

- for second pre-conference Educational Day, Nursing roles in pediatric and adult congenital cardiology, Wednesday May 25th, 2022
- and the Nurses and Allied Professionals Reception, Thursday, May 26th, 2022

Go visit the AEPC conference webpage <https://www.aepc2022.org/> for further information and check out the programme. If you become a member of our working group, you will profit from a significant price reduction and from our widespread activities such as networking, exchanging ideas in the field of research and practice with colleagues and the annual registration to "Cardiology in the Young".

Please contact us for further questions.

Looking forward to meet you at our congress 2022 in Geneva!

Best wishes,

Eva Goossens, Ewa-Lena Bratt, Lynda Shaughnessy & Gaby Stoffel
